RG104 E-1 Box 135 Aug-Sep 1885

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia,

MELTING AND REFINING DEPARTMENT,

Philadelphia, 2nd September, 1885.

Hon. D. M. Fox,

Superintendent

Sir,

When through discharge of several of my men, for sufficient cause stated by me, we were reduced in number rather below our ability to produce coin at the rate demanded by Congress, I borrowed one man, Thomas Malloy, from what was termed your force, and immediately gave him a position in the melting room. He fulfils his duty so well, that I respectfully solicit you to transfer him in fact to my roll. You are aware, I am sure, that the steady, hard, and hot work of my Department is not relished by all, and few are well adapted to it. Hence my desire to keep one that I know to be adapted to the work.

I may mention that many of my men are the siftings of a large number, mostly well tried and well suited to the work. There are some not so well adapted, and their replacement would not be a grievous affliction to me or to the service

Very respectfully
Jas C Booth
M A R

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 135

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia,
Melting and Refining Department,
Philadelphia,
September 2, 1885

Hon. D.M. Fox,
Superintendent

Sir,

When through discharge of several of my men, for sufficient cause stated by me, we were reduced in number rather below our ability to produce coin at the rate demanded by Congress. I borrowed one man, Thomas Malloy, from what was termed your force, and immediately gave him a position in the melting room. He fulfils his duty so well, that I respectfully solicit you to transfer him in fact to my roll. You are aware, I am sure, that the steady, hard, and hot work of my Department is not relished by all, and few are well adapted to it. Hence my desire to keep one that I know to be adapted to the work. I may mention that many of my men are the siftings of a large number, mostly well-tried and well suited to the work. There are some not so well adapted, and their replacement would not be a grievous affliction to me or to the service.

Very respectfully,
Jas. C. Booth
M & R